Dave Jones has $1,000,000 cash on hand for his Insurance Commissioner campaign as of June 30th, which is the end of the most recent campaign finance reporting period. Jones had another very successful period of fundraising.

“Dave Jones has done a stellar job of fundraising in this period. We are still totaling up the contributions that flooded in over the last few days, but we have clearly passed $1 million cash on hand,” said Parke Skelton, Jones’s campaign consultant. “Dave is building an unstoppable campaign for Insurance Commissioner.”

“Its time to elect an Insurance Commissioner who will fight for consumers and hold the insurance industry accountable,” said Jones. “The response to our campaign had been overwhelming. I want to thank everyone who has contributed to our campaign.”

What makes Jones’ fundraising total all the more remarkable is that he is not accepting contributions from the insurance industry.

Dave Jones’s campaign fundraising is headed up by Kristin Bertolina, one of California’s most successful and resourceful finance directors. He has held campaign events throughout the state and built an impressive small and medium donor base that can be expected to give multiple times in the year leading up to the June 2010 primary election.

Parke Skelton of SGA campaigns is Jones’ campaign consultant. Skelton managed the successful statewide races of Secretary of State Debra Bowen and Controller John Chiang, as well as numerous other state and local races.
